

Monkseaton High School

SEND policy

Introduction

Monkseaton High School is a fully inclusive school that ensures all students achieve their potential: personally, socially, emotionally, physically and educationally. The progress of all students in school, whether they are designated as having additional needs or not, is of paramount importance to us. It is an expectation that all classroom teachers provide a learning environment where all students can thrive. Classroom materials and tasks are fully differentiated and/or modified to ensure they meet the needs of all our students and a strong emphasis on Teaching and Learning ensures we look for ways to engage all our students in the learning process.

Regular data entries/progress checks allow us to monitor the progress of all students and identify at an early stage any students who are struggling; as well as celebrating success with those who are doing particularly well.

Parents and carers are considered an important part of the learning process and we encourage you to contact us at any time if you have any concerns about your child's learning. It is best in the first place to contact the subject teacher if you feel your child is struggling; they will discuss any concerns with you and agree a plan of action; if appropriate they will liaise with the Special Educational Needs and Disabilities Coordinator (SENDCo). The form tutor is also a good point of contact for any initial concerns.

Aims

The aims of this policy are:

To ensure that every student with special educational needs and/or disabilities has maximum opportunity to progress and reach their potential

In making provision for students with SEND at Monkseaton High School, the Governing Body will:

- Ensure that the best possible provision is made for every student with SEND;
- Determine the role of the SENDCo and learning Support Team in relation to the leadership and management of the school;
- Determine the key responsibilities of the SENDCo and monitor the effectiveness of the SENDCo in undertaking those responsibilities;

- Make sure that all staff are made aware of the importance of identifying and making provision for all students with SEND;
- Make sure that parents are notified of any decision to make SEND provision for their child;
- Make sure that students with SEND and/or disabilities are able to join in the activities of the school together with students who do not have SEND or disabilities, so far as is reasonably practical within the planned curriculum and available resources;
- Make sure that all staff are made aware of the special educational needs of all students in their care;
- Ensure that all staff are aware of the SEND policy of the school and of how to work appropriately with all SEN and disabled children;
- Have regard to the SEN Code of Practice when carrying out its duties toward all students with SEND;
- Report to parents on the implementation of the School's SEND policy.

Implementation

The school has regard to all the requirements of the SEN Code of Practice (2014). The SEN Code recognises a continuum of SEND and that, where necessary, increasing specialist expertise should be brought to bear on the difficulties that a child may be experiencing;

Identification and assessment

Where students are identified as 'struggling' with accessing the curriculum (this may be brought to the department's attention by staff, parents or the child themselves), difficulties will be explored and where appropriate interventions will be put into place. These may include:

- small group or 1:1 withdrawal to boost literacy
- paired reading
- numeracy interventions
- individual programmes of study
- homework support

At this stage, parents/carers will be notified by the department and, where appropriate, be invited into school for an informal discussion. These students will be brought to the attention of staff to allow them to plan and prepare appropriately.

Students who continue to fail to make appropriate progress, despite intervention, will receive a range of more intensive support from within school resources in addition to possible referral to external agencies.

Where appropriate students will be offered access to the following:

- small group withdrawal to support literacy/numeracy difficulties
- specific programmes of support e.g. dyslexia support programme, Lexia, Word Shark etc.
- 1 to 1 or small group sessions to address issues relating to Social, Emotional and Mental Health (SEMH) needs

- development of a SEND support document outlining current difficulties and strategies for support.
- access to an alternative curriculum where appropriate
- referral to external agencies including the Educational Psychology Service
- family support

At this stage, parents/carers will be invited into school to discuss and contribute to any plans made for their child at this time and will then be updated on progress. Staff will be made aware of continued difficulties and will be provided with a range of appropriate strategies to support the student in the classroom.

Those students who are identified as in need of extra support and who have failed to make progress despite further more intensive interventions, may be put forward for a formal statutory assessment of their needs within or across the following categories.

- Communication and interaction: Those students with speech, language and communication needs that prevent them accessing the curriculum fully or restricts their communication with others
- Cognition and Learning: Those students whose literacy/numeracy fall on the lowest percentile scores and who are failing to access the curriculum
- Sensory and/or physical needs: Those students who have specific needs that restrict access to the curriculum including those students who require additional ongoing support or equipment
- Social, emotional and mental health difficulties: Students failing to match the emotional and social development milestones of their peers or whose mental health is a significant barrier to their learning.

To support requests for statutory assessment school will:

- gather historical data and information to support statutory assessment
- facilitate the work of the Educational Psychology Service and other professionals to produce the necessary reports
- facilitate the production of reports by other external agencies e.g. Speech and Language Team (SALT)
- liaise with parents and carers to ensure clarity and understanding of the process
- work with the student concerned to ensure they understand the process
- produce all necessary paperwork to the required timescale.

If school is successful in its request for Statutory Assessment we will ensure:

- support indicated on the EHCP is put into place
- ensure written objectives are taken into account when determining appropriate curriculum provision and support
- regular reviews of progress including statutory reviews will be carried out.
- ensure all staff are made aware of the outcome of the statutory assessment and its implications within the classroom

- if alternative provision is indicated parents/carers and children are supported with transition to the new provision.

Tracking progress:

Students who have SEND are in contact with the department on a daily basis, allowing us to monitor progress, identify any problems early on and intervene appropriately. In addition we will:

- Hold regular departmental staff meetings to discuss students' progress.
- Liaise with teaching staff on a regular basis
- Track and monitor progress for those students receiving specific interventions
- Monitor progress and effort following half termly data entry
- Analyse post examination results
